Good morning everyone;

Ed Zimmer and I visited the Garland Gray Forestry Center last week, it was good to see everybody there. They have done a great job this year, working through some unusual situations, and this year's seedling crop is looking good. We went down there to meet with Harvey Darden who is retiring. Last week was his last day in the office. Harvey was a great addition to the DOF after his many years with forest industry and we appreciate all his work with the nurseries and state forests.

Have a good week.
