Forests for the Bay is a collaborative program between the Alliance for the Chesapeake Bay, the US Forest Service, with support from the Virginia Department of Forestry. The purpose of is to promote sound forest management practices to private landowners as a way to increase the vitality the region's woodlands and improve the health of local streams, rivers and the Bay.

Forest for the Bay's website serves as a clearinghouse for woodland and natural resource information. It is designed to be an easy starting place for private woodland owners to discover the benefits of their woods, to learn about resources and opportunities to help them care for their land and to connect them to a variety of natural resource professionals.

Forest for the Bay also works together with other natural resource organizations to offer educational workshops and training opportunities for woodland owners while piloting new and innovative projects design to better engage them in the resource goals. This free and voluntary program is designed to complement existing forest stewardship programs and outreach efforts rather than duplicate them and is available to any landowner from the Chesapeake Bay watershed states even
