Good afternoon everyone,

I hope you all get a good soaking rain out of this storm. It will be nice to clear out the pollen clouds for a little bit. Remember that tomorrow is Administrative Professionals Day. Please take a moment to thank the support staff that make so much of what we do possible on a daily basis. They do so many things that we rely on but much of it goes on behind the scenes. We can take for granted that these things seem to happen automatically. So take at least a moment to say thank you. And don't do anything to make their jobs harder, for one whole day.
